Welcome to El Dorado County

El Dorado County provides opportunities as diverse as the landscape of California for enjoying the outdoors. Gold was discovered in Coloma in 1848 signaling the beginning of the California Gold Rush. New towns appeared overnight. State Highway 49 follows the historical trail through the Gold Country. The foothill area offers a range of activities from riding on historic stage-coaches and panning for gold to rafting on the American River. The foothill area east of Placerville is one of the most fruitful in the state, from vineyards and wineries to Apple Hill, an area rich in agriculture. Lake Tahoe is an easy drive up US Highway 50 from Sacramento through the spectacular Sierra Nevada Mountains. Activities include — but are certainly not limited to — skiing, hiking, backpacking, horseback riding, river-rafting and fruit picking.

Experience history, small town charm and stunning landscapes. From foothill wineries & rushing rivers to the majestic waters & peaks of Lake Tahoe, El Dorado County has it all.

EL DORADO COUNTY SCHOOLS AND STUDENTS ACHIEVE

El Dorado County educators work tirelessly to develop students into lifelong learners. Administrators and teachers throughout the county collaborate and share best practices regularly to ensure a continuation of improvement and achievement.

Teachers focus on academic success in areas such as English and language arts while also empowering individuals through career technical education and alternative learning programs to meet every student's needs. In doing so, El Dorado County students thrive.

For example, the average county high school graduation rate is consistently almost 10 percent higher than the state's average (2017-18 school year: California — 83 percent, El Dorado County — 89.4 percent). High school seniors plan for the future and in 2018, 93 percent of students who took an Advanced Placement (AP) exam scored 4 or 5 while the state's average was 63 percent.

This positive momentum carries beyond high school when the county sends its best and brightest individuals to first-class institutions such as the University of California, Los Angeles, Berkeley and San Diego; Stanford, Brown, Harvard, Columbia and Yale universities; and the United States Naval and Air Force academies.

EL DORADO COUNTY ASSISTED LIVING

You may have heard what seem's like interchangeable terms when it comes to options for senior living. Senior living options like independent living, assisted living and memory care may all sound similar. The reality is that these titles represent very different types of care. Independent living communities are designed for active seniors who want the convenience of resort style amenities and the support of a community. Assisted living provides help with activities of daily living as well as a full spectrum of convenient services. Memory care communities are designed to support the well-being of people living with cognitive change. Clearly, there are several different types of senior living communities to choose from. No matter your current level of need or if those needs change, you can find a community to meet them.

LOCATION

Besides having different types of communities, there are also a variety of locations to choose from. The right location can make a significant difference in your satisfaction level with the community you choose. This is because you can choose a location that is close to the things that are important to you such as family, cultural activities and your doctors. With so many available locations you should be able to find a community that provides the care you need in an area you desire.

AMENITIES

In addition to the type of community and location, you have a variety of amenities to choose from in senior living communities. Possible amenities include housekeeping services, fitness center, salon services and restaurant style dining. Each community offers a unique combination of amenities. Senior living communities offer so much more than simply a place to live. The variety of amenities can help you develop the lifestyle you always imagined living after retirement.

These different elements give you a wide range of options when it comes to choosing a senior living community. You can get the living arrangements you need along with the location and amenities you prefer. There is no need to settle for a senior living community that does not meet your needs or standards. Take the time to research and tour several communities until you find the one that is the best fit for your needs and lifestyle.

Farming is vital to the county economy

EL DORADO COUNTY is unique ... in so many ways. One would think agriculture is identical no matter where it is grown. Many of the crops may be the same, but the way they are marketed is dramatically different and evolved out of necessity. But the economic impact to the county is profound.

It is estimated that the impact of all kinds of agriculture to the county's economy totaled approximately $433 million in 2016. The wine industry contributed approximately $168 million and ranch marketing added $235 million. Timber is also a vital crop that has waxed and waned throughout the decades. It is harvested from both private and federal lands and still accounts for $8.6 million to the local economy.

The history of local agriculture goes back to the days when many miners found they could make more from growing food than panning. The influx of people trying to strike it rich necessitated feeding them and there were many who accommodated that need.

One of the first in-demand crops was wine grapes. Miners could not exist by food alone and wanted liquid fortification. Wine grape growing faded with the advent of Prohibition, but the climate was also perfect for many tree fruits.

Pears were king and had a nationwide reputation for quality. But in the early '60s what was initially considered a major catastrophe turned into a huge boon to local agriculture. Pears became blighted and died. Foresighted farmers in Camino decided to replace them with apples and instead of packing and sending fruit elsewhere, they were determined to import tourists. The Apple Hill Growers began in 1964 and has recently celebrated its 50th anniversary. It now has well over 50 member farms and is recognized throughout the country as a model of direct sales.

This marketing strategy of selling directly to the consumer was adopted by numerous other county agriculturalists.

In the early '70s vineyards began to be planted again. Local soils and climate are perfect for growing wine grapes. The initial pioneers were quickly joined by others and ultimately three unique wine appellations were officially recognized. The El Dorado Wine Grape Growers Association represents more than 71 vineyards throughout the county. The El Dorado Winery Association, EDWA, was formed and now includes more than 41 wineries and vineyards from all over the county. The Fair Play Winery Association represents more than 70 South county growers. Other smaller winery groups also invite visitors to their sites.

It was a natural for Christmas trees to be planted in a county that includes thousands of acres of forest. The El Dorado County Christmas Tree Growers Association has more than 33 members, but many additional tree farms are located in every corner of the county and draw families to experience the tradition of cutting your own tree.

The El Dorado County Farm Trails Association was started in the early '90s and represents well over 100 members in every section of the county, growing and selling everything from alpacas to vegetables. Citrus trees are grown in the "banana belt" known as Gold Hill. Olives are being grown and artisan olive oil is being produced. There are 4,300 colonies of bees and even 36 acres of nursery products grossing $2.4 million back in 2014.

Cattle, calves, goats and other livestock account for $10.9 million annually. There are 233,000 acres of rangeland and 925 acres of irrigated pasture that combine to total $4.4 million in annual economic benefit. Even the once-threatened pear crop brought in $897,000.

El Dorado County began with a gold rush. There are still miners seeking that wealth, but agriculture, in its many forms, is the constant economic engine that significantly contributes to the economy. That success also moves people to get into farming. There are those who derive their entire income from farming, but many more only augment their livelihood this way. Full-time and part-time farmers are proving you can stay on the farm.
